

NATHALIE NEUKOMM

Nathalie is the Volunteers and International Alliances Coordinator of Hábitat Sur. She is based in Switzerland and spent about 10 years working in different companies as an administrative assistant before backpacking one year between Chile and Colombia. Since then, she feels connected with this continent and its people. She is interested in permaculture and international cooperation, works in different social and environmental projects and whenever she has the opportunity she goes back to South America to visit her brother Hervé and her friends. She is very happy to be part of the Hábitat Sur adventure as this brings together many things she truly cares about.

Strongly concerned by the waste problem, the prevailing consumerism and its devastating consequences, the way food is produced and processed, she does what she can in her daily life to have the less possible impact on Mother Nature and encourages people to do the same, taking in account each one's particular situation.

Nathalie follows and promotes the 5 R rule: Reduce, Reuse, Repare, Recycle, Rethink!
